

ADRL Presents Special Online
Condensed Version of Independence Drags IV Free of Charge

O'FALLON, MO (July 12, 2010) - After extensive requests from fans for a replay of the American Drag Racing League's (ADRL) online video broadcast from the ADRL Hardee's Independence Drags IV, ADRL officials announced that the event has been cut into a one hour, twenty minute special presentation.

Visit <http://www.adrl.us/> to view.

This announcement comes just as LenMar Motorsports announced it will continue to sponsor the ADRL live online broadcasts.

The special, shortened presentation is available for viewing on the ADRL website, www.ADRL.us, as part of the ADRL's continuing effort to provide the most innovative and complete coverage in all of drag racing.

With this condensed broadcast, racing fans will be able to take in all the action and all the sights and sounds from the Independence Drags, which took place July 2-3 from Heartland Park Topeka in Topeka, KS.

Featured in this special presentation will be every race pass from the event, replays, interviews and features from the pits and much more.

The special 80-minute presentation also includes high-definition picture quality and multiple angles as part of the comprehensive coverage.

LenMar Motorsports previously announced it would provide the financial support to allow every fan to watch the Independence Drags free of charge.

Due to the tremendous response and LenMar's generous support for drag racing and the ADRL, the company has announced it will continue to sponsor the all-access video coverage, making it free for all fans for the remainder of the 2010 tour.

Each online broadcast features more than 20 hours of live coverage, an unprecedented step in drag racing. The broadcast features wall-to-wall racing, highlights from the best racing of the 2009 and 2010 season, highlights of the biggest crashes in ADRL history and insider access that gives fans complete access for interviews during and after the event.

Check the next all-access online broadcast which will take place on July 23-24 for the ADRL Inaugural Texas Drags at Houston Raceway Park in Baytown, TX.
