

RCR Capitalizes On Dominant Day In Talladega

Kevin Harvick's sling-shot pass in the last 200 yards to win Sunday's NASCAR Sprint Cup Series Aaron's 499 at Talladega Superspeedway capped a 90th win for Richard Childress Racing and helped the team collect six weekly awards.

In the longest NASCAR Sprint Cup race in the 40-year history of the 2.66-mile oval – 12 laps over the advertised distance – Harvick nipped Jamie McMurray by just 0.011-seconds with a thrilling last-lap pass on the final and third attempt at a green-white-checker finish to pick up his first victory at Talladega.

Due to nasty weather on Saturday, April 24th, the Nationwide race was conducted right after the Sprint Cup race on Sunday. With carbon monoxide levels barely acceptable under NASCAR's guidelines—the result of breathing fumes after damaging the crush panels of his Cup car in the earlier race—Keselowski surged to the front with a huge push from runner-up Joey Logano and won the race under caution because of a fiery wreck behind him in Turn 4 on the final lap.

Below are photos by David Allio and MSA Staff of both races.
